MADRID, Dec. 16. - (AP) -Twenty Fascist planes dumped scores of bombs on the fringes of Madrid today, taking at least 18 lives and wounding at least 50 persons, before government aircraft shot down two of the attacking machines and drove off the rest. The bombers were accompanied by 17 pursuit planes.

Government sources said the air attack appeared to be a prelude to a major onslaught from several fronts.

Insurgent planes, which government officials declared were of Italian manufacture, dropped 60 bombs on the village of Majadahonda, about eight miles west of Madrid, and then dumped more explosives on the thickly populated Cuatro Caminos district on the edge of the Majadahonda, they pointed out, is the objective of a drive by two Insurgent forces moving from Robledo de Chavela, about 25 miles west of Madrid, and Boadilla, a few miles south of Majadahonda. That offensive, defense officers said,

Only Two Choices. "If you marry, sire," I asked King Edward, "the woman you so honor will be one of three things. Correct me if I am wrong." "What are those things?" His

"Again only 67 per cent correct, Mr. Noyes. You should confine your possibilities to the first twothe only two that exist."

Conferences, However, Fail To Settle Disputed Purchase.

The state highway board yesterday debated its next move in its effort to purchase $500,000 worth of new equipment in the dying days of the Talmadge administration, as a trainload of the equipment stood in the weather near its East Point shops, tied up by an injunction issued Tuesday by Judge W. M. Harper, of Americus.

W. E. Wilburn, chairman of the highway board, held several conferences during the day with Assistant Attorney General Brick Miller, assigned to the highway department. Wilburn also conferred with Governor Talmadge, who in turn had a long conference with Attorney General M. J. Yeomans.

Yeomans.

It was reported last night that Judge Yeomans would ask Judge Harper to set an earlier date for his hearing on the effort to make the injunction permanent, but this report could not be confirmed. There was no announcement either by the department of law or the highway board as to what steps would be taken to complete the machinery deal.

Hall county, which holds $40,000 worth of highway certificates it alleges will be jeopardized if the highway board expends $500,000 for the equipment, obtained the temporary injunction from Judge Harper. The date for the hearing on the permanent injunction is now set as January 3, two days before the Talmadge administration ends.

The first shipment of the machinery contracted for through Morgan and Company, of Savannah, arrived in Atlanta early yesterday. It consisted of several score high priced tractors. Not ready to unload it, the highway board had it placed on a siding near the East Point shops.

Copies of Judge Harper's injunction order are expected to reach Sheriff James I. Lowry, of Fulton county, this morning and it is expected they will be posted on the equipment now at East Point and the board prevented from having anything further to do with the machinery until a new order comes from the court.

Action Not To Affect Gem Robbery Indictments, Officials Assert.

The state prison commission yester-day ordered Lee Bunch and Harry Odum, under indictment in connection with the daylight robbery of the Claude S. Bennett jewelry store September 29, sent to the Fulton chain gang to finish serving sentences under previous convictions.

Bunch, Odum and Harry E. Hopkins were indicted for the robbery, in which $13,000 worth of jewels were taken. Bunch and Odum were taken.

That they have been sent to the chain gang will have no effect on the Bennett indictments, the solicitor's office said. Bunch was serving a two-to-fiveyear sentence for burglary when he escaped, and Odum was serving a 10-15-year sentence for robbery when he was paroled by Governor Talmadge. ## RAIN, MIST EXPECTED FOR ATLANTA TODAY

Rain and mist will continue "probably occasionally" in Atlanta today, according to the weatherman, with some relief from dampness as the outlook for tonight. The unsettled conditions of the last few days are drifting off into Tennessee and to-ward the midwest. Not much change in temperature is promised for today, the expected range being from 40 to 50 degrees. Yester-day the mercury drifted from 43 de-grees in the morning to 49 during the afternoon.

The rain of the last few days, according to Chief Forecaster George W. Mindling, amounted to an inch, the heaviest fall being between midnight Monday and midnight Tuesday, when .86 of an inch fell.

Cloudy skies will prevail throughout the day.

Legless Cripple Wins Freedom by Letter

A clever letter won freedom from prison sentence for Homer Haney yesterday.

Haney, a legless man, used to dig worms for Mayor Key when his honor went fishing during the summer at the city stockade lake. He is a frequent visitor at the stockade and recently returned for a 30-day stay for failure to pay a $17 fine in recorder's court.

Said Haney in his letter to Mayor Key: "I realize you must be pretty tired of the apparently thankless job you have performed for Atlanta. I remember when we used to fish together and I hope we can go again soon. I would not want, however, to take advantage of the fact I am a legless cripple in asking that something be done fine in recorder's court. of the fact I am a legiess crippie in asking that something be done for me, but Christmas is coming and sometimes I can make money during the season. Won't you please release me?" The mayor signed Haney's pardon before he finished reading the message.

ON RIGHTS OF TIPPINS AS STATE BANK HEAD

Judge Pomeroy To Hear Arguments Monday in Case Involving Bank Charter.

Judge E. E. Pomeroy, of Fulton superior court, ordered late yesterday a continuance of arguments in an injunction hearing involving validity of Robert Tippins' appointment as state superintendent of banks.

He set 9 o'clock Monday as the time for resuming the case, in which Ralph Puckett, of Tifton, seeks to enjoin Secretary of State John Wilson from issuing a charter to the Farmers' State Bank of Tifton upon Tippins' approval.

Tippins became superintendent by appointment of Governor Talmadge after Talmadge removed R. E. Gormley. Gormley's dismissal came at a time when he was involved in a court suit over his refusal to approve a charter for the same bank.

The Puckett petition, filed by Carl and Frank Davie, Atlanta attorneys, and Robley D. Smith, if Tifton, contends Talmadge did not have authority to remove Gormley except on an allegation the official was insane, negligent or dishonest. None of these allegations could lie against Gormley, the petition held.

It also contended that, in event of any vacancy in the office, the law specifically said the assistant superintendent was to become acting superintendent until the senate could confirm a gubernntorial appointment, and that Tippins' appointment was

The state countered in a demurrer

The state countered in a demurrer that the secretary of state was not amenable to the suit, and further that the suit, in effect against the state, could not be brought without the state's permission. The state had not agreed to be sued, the demurrer set forth.

Judge Pomeroy continued the hearing when Carl Davie, who was out of the city, was unable to present his Europe's mystery man, Sir Basil Zaharotf, Greek-born Turkish subject, British knight, grand cordon of the Legion of Honor of France, died on the day when it was 50 years ago that the machine gun was invented, or rather when the first specimen was delivered to the British army in Egypt. The first machine gun had five bar-rels and fired about 600 shots a minute. The only thing that was against the gun was that it cost $750. it that they have begun forming to keep him moving along the restricted lines they would like to see him follow.

For one thing, they do not want him to deal with European leaders in any kind of joint move for a conference at the Azores or anywhere. Their antagonism to conferences seems to have been strengthened by the Buenos Aires results.

Their argument is that, if nothing more effective can be done under the most favorable circumstances, there is no need to try appealing to Hitler, Mussolini, Stalin or even Premier Baldwin on a man-to-man basis. What most of the liberals around the White House would like to have is a stronger neutrality law, and nothing more.

A second group says the United States cannot neutralize itself out of the next war, any more than it did the last one, and, therefore, Mr. Roosevelt must make a world peace move of some kind. This group is distinctly in the minority now, but it is supposed to include Mr.

This has always been the way in which big policies have evolved within the New Deal. When as many varying-viewed advisers are behind any leader, big inside fights are inevitable, and this one may be the biggest of the coming session. The outcome is yet uncertain.

SELF-INTEREST Another phase of the neutrality fight is already starting among congressmen. Cotton congressmen are saying Mr. Roosevelt's embargo powers do not and cannot include their product. Oil senators are saying congress specifically intended to leave out oil. There are no munitions senators left, but, if there were, they would undoubtedly be protesting against any possibility of a war-time embargo on their product.

It is the same old fight these groups staged last session. Everyone is interested only in his own baby. But the demand for real neutrality now is so strong that the result may be different this time. Note-Senator Frazier, peace extremist, is saying he would agree to include wheat and foodstuffs, and wheat is his product.

It seems the government pays $2,000 attorney fees to anyone filing a CHANGE Another new political phenomenon is the great number of people who turned out to be Democrats after election. If Mr. Roosevelt had received all the votes of people who are now saying they were for him, it is hard to see why he did not receive more than 27,000,000 votes.

He suffered agonies of embarrassment and thereafter became so self-concious that he avoided all groups lest someone make fun of his affliction.

NEW YORK. Dec. 16.—(A)— Breaking openly with J. Edgar Hoover and his G-men, heads of the New York police and fire departments voiced sharp criticism today of what they called the "melodramatic" federal raid on an apartment house yesterday. "Heroics" and "small town stuff" were among the phrases applied by Fire Commissioner John J. McElligott to the sub-machine gun and teargas barrage that resulted in the capture of Harry Brunette, Green Bay, Wis, desperado, and his wife.

"I don't think it takes more than two New York cops to do a thing of this kind," he said.

McElligott denied Hoover and his 10 agents blasted the lock of Brunette's apartment with gun fire. He said it was ripped off by two firemen who braved a storm of bullets BRUNETTE IS INDICTED

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 16.—(P)—A county grand jury indicted Harry Brunette as a kidnaper and robber today, while a federal grand jury summoned witnesses to appear before it tomorrow in the same case.

The Somerset county grand jury, sitting at Somerville, named Brunette's wife, captured with him in a gun bat-tle in New York yesterday, and Merle Vandenbush, still at large, as Bru-nette's companious in the Armistic Day kidnaping of State Trooper William A. Turnbull.

Prosecutor Clarkson A. Cranmer said he would make a personal and immediate appeal to federal authorities for custody of the Brunettes. The state, he pointed out, accused the two men of kidnaping, carrying concealed weapons and highway robbery: the woman, of being a kidnaper and gun girl.

KING PLANS FINANCES
FOR DUKE OF WINDSOR
LONDON, Dec. 16.—(P)—Former King Edward's finances—which informed persons said need never worry him—were believed to have been the subject of a talk today between his brother, King George VI, and the chancellor of the exchequer, Neville Chamberlain.

Chamberlain, who holds Britain's purse-strings, was received by the new monarch at Buckingham palace. It was understood they discussed what provision the government would make for the abdicated king, now the Duke of Windsor.

They were said to have given particular attention to revenues from the Duchy of Cornwall, in effect a business enterprise which returned to Edward as king a yearly income estimated at between $450,000 and $1,000,000. He lost that income with his throne, but King George was reported plan-ning to provide him with $125,000 an-nually from the ducy's profits. Reliable informants asserted the self-exiled Duke always would have enough money anyway to purchase whatever he wants—cars, yachts, chateaux or almost anything else.

He was understood to have used very little of a bequest estimated at $5,000,000 from his grandmother, the late Queen Alexandra, wife of King Edward VII.

Officers said Mrs. Jenkins told them her husband admitted the shooting and claimed Russell was attempting to "beat him up."

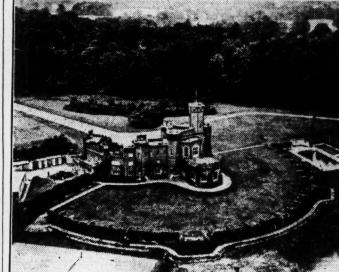

The shooting took place tonight near the home of Jenkins, two miles west of Emerson, a few miles south of here.

No Soap and No Pay Bring Women to Court

"No soap" was more than a slang term to four Atlanta women who testified yesterday against a wom-an listed as Mrs. D. E. Reed, 49, of a downtown hotel, during her arraignment before Recorder A. W. Callaway on charges of cheating and swindling.
The complainants said they bought soap, at $9 a case, after they had been offered jobs selling it. They became suspicious, they added, when several weeks passed, and neither soap nor pay checks arrived. Mrs. Reed was held under $1,000

The complainants were Mrs. R. E. Lee, of a downtown hotel; Mrs. Bonnie McMillan, of 460 Patterson avenue; Miss Florence Edens, of 3964 Wieuca road, and Mrs. W. T. Dent, of 934 Adair avenue. City ncilman Paul Carpenter directed

AUNT WILL JOIN WALLY IN FRANCE

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 .- Mrs. D. Buchanan Merrymen, aunt of Mrs. Wallis Simpson, told Newbold Noves in a telephone conversation today that she was leaving London Friday to join her niece at Cannes.

She did not say how long she expected to remain there.

Mr. Noyes, who is writing a series of authorized articles on her romance with the ex-King, today cabled both the Duke of Windsor and Mrs. Simpson.

The cables, which were virtually identical, said:

"I was delayed at the palace for some time," he explained. "It has been an usually busy day."

"No matter, sir," she replied.

she asked.

I repeated what I had already told Wallis—that undoubtedly only the most unfavorable of the American newspaper stories had found their way into his hands and that it was my professional opinion that at least 70 per cent of the stories dealing with their romance had placed Mrs. Simpson in a favorable light.

WITNESSES SUPPORT FLORIDA CANAL PLAN

Governor, Solons, Shippers and Engineers Join in Chorus of Approval.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 16.—(P)— The case for the proposed $162,000,000 Florida ship canal was presented to the Army Board of Engineers to-OOO Florida ship canal was presented to the Army Board of Engineers to the Army Board of Engineers to day as witness after witness testified to advantages they said would come from such a Gulf-Atlantic waterway.

Closing the first day of a public hearing on a special board report that the canal was economically feasible, Brigadier General George B. Pillsbury, presiding, announced opponents would be heard tomorrow.

The canal was begun in 1935 as a relief project, but work was stopped when initial presidential allocations of $5,400,000 were exhausted and the 1936 congress declined to appropriate additional funds.

Summing up the case for the proponents, H. H. Buckman, engineering counsel for the Florida Ship Canal Authority, declared:

"Safe, Beneficial."

"I think we have shown the public demand for the canal is widespread. I think we have shown such a waterway would be a safe channel for navigation and would yield widespread benefits. The only remaining question is the question of cost."

He expressed the opinion that $155,000,000 could be considered a fair margin of cost.

Colonel Gilbert A. Youngberg, Unit-

000,000 could be considered a fair margin of cost.

Colonel Gilbert A. Youngberg, United States army, retired, of Jackson-ville, and General Charles P. Summerall, former army chief of staff, who is chairman of the Atlantic-Gulf Ship Canal Association, were called upon to reply to one of the chief arguments of those opposing the water-way—that it would menace the state's water supply.

way—that it would menace the states water supply.

Calling this the "salt water scare," Colonel Youngberg said the entire area had been thoroughly investigated and said reports indicated there would be no damage done. General Summerall said there had been no study or investigation to warrant the conclusion the canal would be harmful to the water supply.

Won't Injure Water.

"The special board came to the conclusion that there would be no material injury to the state's water supply." he declared.

Florida's two senators, two representatives of the state and a representative elect appeared with the proponents as did representatives of shipping interests and the states of Georgia, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Mississippi.

Florida's new Governor, Fred Cone, in a message, described the project as meritorious and as having the backing of a majority of Florida citizens.

The representative-elect, Joe Hendricks, of the fifth district, which the proposed canal would traverse, said he believed his support of the project was a factor in his election. Representatives R. A. Green, of Starke, and Millard F. Caldwell, of Milton, said they were behind the work.

Senator Claude Pepper said he was convinced completion of the canal would be "of tremendous benefit" to the state, while Senator Charles O. Andrews declared he was "willing to abide by the opinion of the experts."

Rails Not Affected.

Colonel Youngberg injected into the hearing the question of opposition by railroads, which he said has been raised. He asserted the canal would not hurt railroads because it would draw its traffic from water routes now being used.

Shipping men to appear included W. S. Locke. New York steamship operator, who testified the canal would save time in Gulf-Atlantic and Atlantic-Pacific shipping, and Captain Charles Zearfoss, also of New York, who said shipping men would prefer to use the canal for entrance to the Gulf rather than sail around the Floridas straits.

Gulf rather than sail around the Florida straits.

The canal as an aid to national defense was stressed by Brigadier General Sumter Lowry. United States said it would make the Gulf of Mexico a closed sea for transportation of war supplies between Gulf and eastern ports.

State Drivers' License Law Expected To Be Considered.

Fulton and DeKalb county legislators will be asked to meet with the Fulton grand jury at 3 o'clock tomorrow afternoon to discuss legislative matters affecting Atlanta and the two counties, it was learned yesterday.

The grand jury is understood to have drawn a tentative bill for a state drivers' license law which they wish to discuss with the legislators in an effort to have it introduced in the next session of the Georgia legislature.

next session of the Georgia legislature.

The grand jury has appointed a special committee to draw the tentative bill and action will be taken tomorrow by the jubors as to recommendations, it was said. It is understood the grand jury favors a very strict drivers' license law that will help reduce the number of drunken drivers operating on the highways.

Other matters of legislation affecting the county also will be discussed at length.

ATHENS, Ga., Dec. 16.—Athens High meets Statham High in the feature of the tenth district's basketball schedule for Thursday night at Statham, in a twin bill. Athens High, although a "B" team to Statham's class "C" standing, is not favered to win. The Maroons have improved rapidly since losing to Winterville High, 19 to 16, in their opening encounter, but Statham claims the distinction of being the only quintet formidable enough to beat Bogart High's tenth district championship crew.

Among other games scheduled Thursday night are Tignall High at Elberton, where the Blue Devils will play their third game of the season. Winterville High is host to Jersey High's two squads Thursday night at Winterville.

Shower! Shower! Clear and cool, Come and save my life. Sooth and clear my poor wits And square me with my wife.

It would be interesting to know just how much sanity has been contributed to the world by a shower bath. A cool shower. Or a long hot one followed by a cool one.

It is a well-established fact that a great many false ideas are washed out with the morning shower. I have known newspapermen, under the stimulation of much conversation and the accessories on a long train ride or a hotel-room gathering, to have ideas for stories and columns which appear devastating at the time. They seem too scintillating, set with facets of precious jewels. And the newspaperman wonders why he never thought of the idea before.

But ten times out of nine the shower next morning washes all out of his head and he wonders if he is slipping. He figures he must be if he is harboring such dumb, moronic thoughts and ideas. The idea depresses him all day.

It is my idea there were no showers at Belvedere castle, in London. I imagine there are big, thick white tubs in the bathrooms of Belvedere castle.

Because, I do not think if the present Mr. Windsor had had the use of a shower bath every morning, he would have chucked

WINE IN PACKAGES.

There is some wine around town in Christmas packages. The Greek wine is worth some comment. The most popular Greek wine is the Retsina wine. This wine will be a surprise to the American palate.

At first taste the novice will be sure he is swigging from a bottle of naval stores from Savannah, Ga. The Retsina wine is flavored with resin. The taste is a surprise, but after a while even the novice becomes a confirmed Retsina customer.

The resin flavor is predominant. And the resin serves as a flavor of the game's foremost citizens and the supplying a referee for the clash of two of the game's foremost citizens.

Also, the Messrs. Hanjaras told me there is an old Greek story, dating back to about the time of the second Olympiad, of an old Greek who lived to be 121 years old. He had drunk Retsina all his life and when he passed on to join his fathers it was necessary to kill his stomach with a bow and arrow. But I do not put full faith in the story and neither do the Hanjaras brothers.

They did not have very good reporters in Greece then and the story may be a bit exaggerated. There is no telling about those things. Nevertheless, the wine with resin in it is worth investigating if one's taste runs that way.

"I expect Charley back out by next Monday." Coach Alexander said yesterday. "His loss this week hurts us greatly because we had figured on using him at tackle in the scrimmages, as well as the California game.

"With both Preston and Captain Mit FitzSimons out of action, along with Phil Chance, progress naturally is slowed. It may be that Captain FitzSimons can rejoin us. I am not sure. If he can, we will hold a scrimmage next Monday." LONG SCRIMMAGE.

Tech made up for lost time yester-day. That is to say, there was an-other long scrimmage. It lasted the better part of an hour.

The day before was devoted to blackboard instruction because of rainy weather. The rain shated yes-terday and left Grant field muddy. This did not stop the Jackets, how-Coach Alex was cheered by the play of several reserve linesmen and by the running of Rough House Beard, Dutch Konemann, Scrappy Edwards and Jimmy Moore.

Beard punched center once for 90 yards. It was quite a punch, with Beard outstripping pursuers in a muddy goalward gallop.

The blocking of the varsity looked pretty convincing most of the afternoon. And for that reason, there were numerous long sprints by the hot-footing backs.

12,000 EXPECTED. The advance sale for the game with the Golden Bears is running close to 4,000, it was announced yesterday. If the weather is good, it is expected some 12,000 fans will see the game. This has been the best financial year at Tech since 1928. The fans have been most loval

Those who expect to see Tech "murdered," in view of the loss of so dered," in view of the loss of so many key players, may be surprised. The Jackets are working their plays in a very pleasing fashion.

And, while Preston is out for this week, he is pretty certain to be back by next week and in good shape for the game. Lawrence Hays, who can't scrimmage because of an ailing ankle, is pretty certain to be able to play the final game of his career.

California's Bears apparently are a conservative team, employing little razzle-dazzle. There is, it seems, no particular deception in the running attack. They depend on power and fine blocking to get their backs away. Their passing game is fine. That's the word from Coach Alexander, who has informants on the coast.

Baseball Kings Awarded 194 Points; L. S. U. Ranks Sixth With 13.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16.—(P)—While the New York Yankees did it with their bats, experts, using ballots, selected the World Baseball Champions as the No. 1 team of 1936 in the sixth annual Associated Press sports poll. The Yankees, for their runaway of the American league pennant and decisive victory over their intra-city rivals, the Giants, in the World Series, received 46 first place nominations among the 82 participants in the poll. All told Joe McCarthy's ball players posted 194 points in contrast, the New York Giants, who were acclaimed the nation's leading team three years ago, polled only 9 points despite their bristling comeback to win the National league banner. Serving to confirm the results of the final Associated Press ranking poll which designated Minnesota as country's No. 1 team, Bernie Bierman's burly boys gained a clear cut title to second place with 112 points. They were No. 1 on 13 lists despite the fact they were beaten for the first time in four seasons.

Third place was awarded the United States Olympic track and field team.

Intercollegiate baseball may be resumed at Georgia Tech after an absence of one season, Coach William A. Alexander said yesterday.

Announcement was made that in the future no admission would be charged for any of Tech's sports except football and basketball.

"We have not officially decided to renew intercollegiate baseball this spring, but I think we will," Alexander said. "We plan games with Auburn. Vanderbilt, Georgia, Alabama and a few others."

Live stock producers in this area of south Georgia will receive Christmas checks approximating $750,000 for hogs sold in December, farm authorities estimated today.

Packing plants in this area have been running night and day in an effort to buy, butcher and dress heavy shipments of hogs. Live stock raisers have sent hogs to market in December as never before, dealers say. In wagons, trucks and vehicles of every description, the porkers are brought to market.

The 76 hogs alaughtered for the winter were raised on the country's 700-acre farm operated by convict labor. The farm also produced 285 gallons of lard, 1,000 gallons of wheat, and a large quantity of sweet potatoes.

Fresh beef and fresh vegetables from the farm supplement the food distributed to the needy.

EVERY young man has his own technique when it comes to love-making, and here's a new way of saying sweet noth-ings as practiced by a prominent young man about town who is inclined to be bashful. He used to phone the object of his affec-tions and, instead of saying all the things that were in his heart, he got cold feet. He decided something had to be done, and so he hit upon this plan. While the girl friend is at the other end of the telephone line, he draws the victrola up to the phone and starts the needle whirling on a sentimental love song. And, presto-some crooner does his love-making for him, and with all the ease that the timid young man lacks. So for you bashful

Some very beautiful screens will go to the State Department and to our embassies. Some batik work, designed by some of the artists and carried out under the supervision of Miss Grace Latimer Wright, is for decoration in some other buildings. There are sculptures for various postoffices, housing projects and other public buildings. Some of these works are don by men who are already famous, and, in other cases, by new sculptors who have been discovered and developed. There is also

It is rather thrilling to feel that the government, for the first time in its history, is actually giving consideration to things which will make living richer for all of us.

Perhaps the day will come when artists as a whole-whether they are painters, sculptors, musicians, actors or singers-may look for appreciation and assistance not from individual patrons or foundations which some rich and cultured individual has established, but may actually feel that the government, which is really the people as a whole, is the place to turn for assistance and understanding.

My brother dined with me last night and I divided my evening be tween my desk and finishing touches in the Christmas closet upstairs. There is still work to be done, but I don't feel as swamped as I usually do at this time of the year.

The annual luncheon was given today in honor of the wives of the nembers of the supreme court. I received the Belgian ambassador's wife to bid her good-bye as she is about to go on a trip to South America with her husband, and also the Senora Dona Isabel De Talencia, who was introduced by the Spanish ambassador as a well-known writer.

Then from 4 to 6, two teas, after which Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Davies, who are here for a short time before leaving for their diplomatic post in Russia, came to call. After dinner I expect to go to the train to meet my husband and my son.

Overeating and heavy meals lower resistance to infection by clog-ging the system. The fat person eats too much and catches a cold—then diets too rigidly and catches another one!

The off-and-on reducer who dallies with a lopsided diet is an easy prey to the first cold that comes her way. The bid actually was "one trick-cowardly," to coin a descriptive phrase. A study of the West hand will prove how effective a four-spade bid (the correct call on South's probable eight playing tricks) would have been. Even over three spades, West had to take a good deep breath and cross his fingers before he could bring out his four-heart overcall. Certainly he could not have stretched another inch, and the only action he could have taken over four spades would have been a double. Although such a double would be of an "optional" nature, East unquestionably would pass to it, since his only certain trick was in the spade suit itself. But after he had heard the vulnerable four-heart bid, and after South (spurred by desperation) had rebid his spades, it did not require much courage for East to raise to five hearts. Now South, who had tried penuriously to buy the contract for three-odd, found himself in the position of having to pay an exorbitant price orp lose out entirely.

The loss to South was a great deal more than the one trick set that he incurred, because four spades would have been a laydown. Also, as can less the Many Fear Civil War.

She astonished and amused him by the things she did and said. When her French nurse had been discharged, his mother, while interviewing other French nurses, had temporarily hired a young girl from the village who utrined out to be a devoted patron of the movies. While Renny's mother thought that Allison was being taught the story of the Three Little Bears, the village girl was actually teaching her impersonations of Mae West, Joe Penner, and Jimmy Durante. His mother had been heartsick at Allison's tongue-twisting imersonations but Renny had shaken with laughter.

He put her in her bed, tucked her favorite doll between the covers, and kissed her. While he sat beside her, she opened her eyes, grinned at him. Her eyes were neither blue, like Christa's nor brown like his. They were he suddenly thought. like the story of the Three Little governor's lady, Arlen thought bitterly.

"I'm fine, thank you. How are you?" asked Renny, and frowned at her. "Now I'm supposed to ask, 'How's your aunt Minnie?' and this will go on for hours." He laughed at her, tossed her over his head, and bore her to the nursery. "You're going on a long trip soon to New York." "On a vacation?" she asked.

WRITING BY MACHINE.

IV-Success for Sholes!

The typewriter which Sholes and his friends sent to St. Louis had a line of white keys which would imprint the numbers 2, 4, 6 and 8, and the letters from A to M. There was also a row of black keys which would type the rest of the alphabet, from N to Z, and the numbers 3, 5, 7 and 0. A wall of citik wibbon was bought. A roll of silk ribbon was bought from a drygoods store, was soaked in ink, hung up to dry, then placed in the machine.

Later model of a Sholes typewriter, used by one of his daughters.

Charles Weller, the St. Louis court reporter, used the typewriter to set lown the words spoken in court. He down the words spoken in court. He could not type the words swiftly, but the machine worked fairly well, and his report of the court trial was taken from the typewritten copy and printed in a newspaper. Weller was delighted to find that a machine could do such work.

lighted to find that a machine could do such work.

This success, or part-success, did not lead to honor and wealth for the Milwaukee inventors. Far from it: They went to work again to build a new and better model. The keyboard was changed. Instead of having the keys in the order of the alphabet, they were placed in positions where it seemed most "handy" to have them. If we study the keyboard of a "Copyright, 1936, for The Constitution."

present-day typewriter, we find that the letters are very much mixed up, following fairly closely the plan of Sholes, Glidden and Soule.

Later models were sent to a newspaper reporter in Washington, D. C., who sent back reports on all the things that were wrong with them. Often his reports made a very sad story.

After a few years of effort, Glidden and Soule dropped out of the typewriter project. Though they did not stay to the end, their help was of great value, and they should have honor in typewriter history. Sholes went on with the work, making "new and improved models."

A Pennsylvania businessman, James Densmore, learned about the work done by Sholes, and advanced money to carry it on. He thus became a partner, and he offered a good deal of helpful advice.

When Sholes was 54 years of age, he sold his patent rights to Eliphalet Remington & Sons, a company at Ilion. N. Y., which made firearms, sewing machines and farm tools. In payment he was given $12,000. Densmore also turned over his rights, but on a royalty basis. In the course of the years, Densmore obtained royalmore also turned over his rights, but on a royalty basis. In the course of the years, Densmore obtained royalties amounting to more than a million dollars. The Remington company did a great deal to make the machine "more practical." Sholes did not get a large enough money reward for his work, but he had the joy of working out a great invention. He told people that he did not care to be a millionaire. His mind was filled with the thought that he had done something thought that he had done something important to help the people of the world. He lived to the age of 71, and saw his typewriter (known as the Remington) come into wide use.

NEW YORK, Dec. 16 .- (AP) -Selective dealing ruffled the surface of the bond market today with lower prices meted out to most active is-

The downward movement was by no means all inclusive, however, as a substantial number of bonds scored

30. Frisco bonds also displayed buoyancy, particularly the "A" 4s of 1950, up 2 3-4 at 32 4-3 and the "B" 5s certificates of 1950, up 2 1-8 at 29 1-2. Lehigh Valley, Gulf Lines, Denver & Rio Grande and Missouri Pacific loans were among those losing ground.

Utilities lower a bit. International Telephone 5s, Pacific Gas 3 3-4s and American Water Works 6s all gave up fractions. International Hydroelectric 6s moved against the trend for a 1-point gain.

United States governments slipped lower in light trading, losses being held to 5-32 of a point or less. The Associated Press averages moved downward, the 20 rails lost .1 of a point to 97.6 and the 10 utilities .3 of a point to 102.2. The 10 low yields also declined a little, but the 10 foreign added .2 of a point at 71.7.

"I'd Know His Ashes," Says Negro of Suspect

"Are you sure he is the man?" Detective Leo Nahlik last night asked John Freeman, negro, of 193 Currier street, after the negro told police that John Fowler, 28, of a Fair street address, was the man who allegedly swindled him out of $18 last November.

Fowler, he added, then disappeared, leaving only a slip showing his "union" dues had been paid. Dinner was served visiting nobles after the reception of welcome.

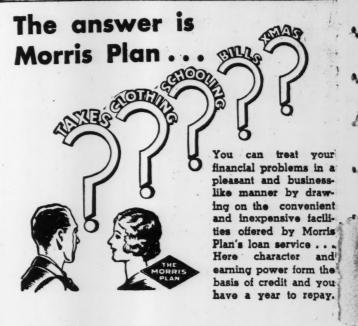

Following introduction of visiting potentates and others, a feature of the session was a special progression.

Mr. Noyes returned to America Tuesday of this week after a ten-day visit to London at the invitation of Mrs. Simpson and the King. This joint invitation by the world's No. 1 sweethearts was extended Mr. Noyes for the sole purpose of giving to America the true facts concerning their romance.
